IS IN FULL BLASTPeople, Panic-Stricken. Prepare to Flee from Mountain That Belches Smoke, with Warning
Rumblings.

OWINGSVILLE, Ky., Jan. 9.—A volcano on Sugar-Loaf Mountain in Rowan County is assuming alarming proportions. There are five fissures on the side of the mountain from which smoke pours in considerable volume, accompanied by a deep rumbling noise. All the trees in the vicinity are blasted and splintered. The people in that section are terror-stricken and preparing to move.

TWO CHILDREN
BADLY BURNEDOne Was Playing at Home with Matches and the Other with a Candle, but Both Will Recover.

Henrietta Bauman, four years old, living at No. 21 Adelphi street, Brooklyn, while playing with matches to-day set her clothes on fire. She was burned on the face and hands. Her mother in trying to smother the flames was badly burned on the hands. The child was removed to the Cumberland street hospital.

BRYAN HOME AGAIN,
TELLS OF HIS TRIPOf the Marconigram Hoax He Says
That He Would Not Have Sent Any Such Message—Enthusiastic About
Reception in All Countries He Visited"Issues for the Coming Campaign Not Defined," He Declares—Goes to the Cleveland Suite in the Victoria and
Will Be Tendered Reception To-Night

The voyage of the White Star liner Celtic, which ended in this port to-day, was hard on seasoned sailors, so it is not surprising that William J. Bryan appeared on deck but three times during the trip across. It was his second time on the Atlantic, and although he will not admit that he was seasick, he does admit that the interior of his cabin was most inviting.

A committee headed by Dr. John H. Gardner, Henry George and other ardent admirers of Mr. Bryan went down the bay to meet the Celtic on the tug C. P. Raymond, which went alongside at Quarantine and got in the way of the revenue cutter with the boarding officers. There was a collision in which the Raymond lost one of her propeller blades and part of her stern, but she was not disabled enough to keep her from carrying Mr. Bryan and the committee to the foot of West Twenty-third street.

From the landing Mr. Bryan went to the Victoria Hotel, where he engaged the suite formerly occupied by President Cleveland on his visits to New York. There Mr. Bryan received the newspaper reporters, with all this old genial charm of manner.

"I am in a hurry to get to the Grand Central Station," he explained, "and must necessarily be brief. My son, William J., Jr., who has been abroad with me, is starting for home at once, and I am going to put him on the train."

WOULD SEND NO SUCH MESSAGE.

Mr. Bryan was asked about the alleged Marconigram delivered at the McClellan banquet last Monday night, bearing his signature and asking the miners not to forget "the 6,500,000 voters of the West" who cast their votes for Bryan. The alleged message also indorsed the dinner.

"I know nothing of the object of the dinner," said Mr. Bryan, "and of course the Marconigram was a hoax. The Celtic has no wireless apparatus aboard, and I would not have sent such a message if it had. I indorse, however, the sentiment that the voters for the Democratic ticket four years ago must not be forgotten, although, of course, they did not vote entirely for the West."

Mr. Bryan said that he enjoyed every day of his tour abroad and learned something every day. He visited ten countries and eleven capitals and spoke enthusiastically of the uniform kindness and courtesy of the United States representatives abroad, especially so of Ambassador Choate.

When asked what he thought the predominant issues would be in the coming campaign he said that they had not been clearly defined. He said that he stood by the Kansas City platform and could not see why anything should be taken from it.

Mr. Bryan refused to discuss the Panama Canal question. He said that his visit to Tolstol was one of the pleasant incidents of his tour.

There will be a public reception to Mr. Bryan at the Victoria to-night on Monday he goes to New Haven to attend a dinner, and will make a speech embodying something of the impressions gained on his trip abroad.

50 WENT DOWN IN STORM
WITH PACIFIC STEAMERPassengers of Clallam Lost as Vessel Was Being Towed Back to Port After Accident That Disabled Her

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Jan. 8.—The steamer Clallam, of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, under command of George Roberts, sank to-day while in tow of the tug Holyoke at a point midway between Smith's Island and Dungeness Spit.

Fifty of her passengers and crew were drowned. Thirty-one were saved, twenty-four being picked up by the tug Sea Lion and seven by the Holyoke.

The survivors were taken to Seattle. The Clallam left Seattle yesterday and broke down during a heavy storm when off Discovery Island. She was drifting about helplessly when spoken and several tugs started out to locate her.

When found she was still being buffeted about in the big gale, but the Holyoke, which got near her, managed to get a line on board and was on the way to port with her when the steamer foundered.

All of the women passengers were lost, they having been placed in boats which

STABBED IN SNOW FIGHT.

Life May Pay the Penalty of What
Was at First a Joke.

Francisco Magovers, seventeen years old, of No. 5 Monroe street, fatally stabbed James Mack, twenty-eight years old, of No. 39 Monroe street, in the abdomen this afternoon at the conclusion of a spirited snow battle in which they had been engaged.

Magovers and his victim with a score of Italians who recently arrived in this country were revelling in a snow fight on Monroe near Market street. All went well until they came upon a quantity of ice. Then it became a fight in earnest, and Mack stripped off his coat and went for Magovers. As he approached the young Italian drew a stiletto from his boot and thrust it into

THE WINNERS.

FIRST RACE—Over Again (8 to 1), 1; Circus Girl (25 to 1), 2; Sid Silver, 3.

SECOND RACE—Stella Allen (2 to 1), 1; Friar Tuck (7 to 1), 2; Delaval, 3.

THIRD RACE—Scorpio (8 to 5), 1; Ostrich (2 to 1), 2; Joe Goss, 3.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 8.—One of the largest crowds of the meeting turned out for the races to-day. The card was unusually attractive, the Gentilly Handicap, worth about $1,500 to the winner, and the first two-year-old race of the season, being the feature events.

Alfred Hennen Morris brought a select party to the track to see Viperine sport the familiar all-scarlet in the Juvenile event.

Gen. W. L. Cabell, the famous Confederate cavalry officer, accompanied Mr. Morris to the track. The going was still heavy and holding.

Sam Hurdath bought the three-year-old Monastic from J. W. Schorr to-day for $5,000. Monastic is a prominent candidate for the Crescent City Derby of 1904.

FIRST RACE—Seven furlongs, 1 mile and upward, entrance $150 for four-year-olds and upward; selling. Betting.
